EYE MARKS IN IMAGE PROCESSING

ABSTRACT

Systems, methods, and devices for eye marks in image processing are

5   provided. A method includes providing an eye mark having at least two sections arranged along a longitudinal axis, wherein each section includes a border common to both sections and a unique characteristic relative to other sections. The method also includes encoding instructions in the eye mark based upon the combination of the at least two sections.

10